Quality Game Meats.

When we set out to develop a market for locally-grown rabbit in the Midwest, we heard one thing consistently from Chefs: I'd put it on the menu if I knew I could get it consistently. So offer just that—a consistent, reliable supply of high-quality, all-natural, locally-sourced rabbit.

We are committed to sustainable ag practices—buying from local family farms, ensuring profitability for our growers, and holding them to high-standards for hormone-free, antibiotic-free meats.

It's an honor to be a part of the local food economy, and we would love to see our product on your table.
