

Meet the Grower

Chicago Pastry Bloomington, IL

Find out how Chicago Pastry has perfected Italian baked goods over the years:

After WWII, Carmen Turano brought his brothers Mariano, Attilio, and Eugenio to America from Italy to create a quality Italian bakery. As their business began to grow, they passed down their knowledge to Remo and Egidio; the second generation who have continued their artisan heritage and maintained the bakery's core family values.

Over 41 years the local shop has grown from Turano Bakery and Turano Pastry to the booming business you know today as Chicago Pastry. With an ever-growing product line of baked goods and its beautiful pastry shop Casa dei Dolci, Chicago Pastry is the best local spot for authentic Italian delights.

As part of Chicago's premier baking family, the Turano brothers are proud to carry on the traditions of their forefathers by providing old-world recipes, handmade artisan products, and quality freshness in all of their goods. Their goal has always been to provide excellent service and products which has been maintained through the years and passed on to a third generation.

5941 W. 82nd Street, Indianapolis, IN 46278
317-872-0101 piazzaproduce.com